NORFOLK NEWS

The Norfolk Vikings' rough first voyage into the Greater Metro Hockey League's waters has been anchored.

At least for now. On Tuesday afternoon, GMHL president Bob Russell confirmed that the Simcoe-based Vikings are taking a one-year leave of absence.

"(Vikings owner) Mike Fish called me yesterday (Monday) and he's decided to take a one-year leave of absence to straighten out the issues he has with that town and the problems he is accountable for himself," Russell said

Cows get a 'moove' on

There's no better excuse for a farm party than watching milk cows make their spring debut on the pasture. The Judd family invited friends and fellow farmers to take in the bovine ballet that is "Who let the cows out?"
