Lawn bowlers open season with new green

By Kevin Werner
News Staff

Ancaster's Lawn Bowling club coach Morgan Lockhart is green with envy.

The club will be holding its 2016 seasonal grand opening May 21, with the extra celebration reserved for the new and expanded bowling green that was installed over the winter. The club usually opens before the Victoria Day weekend.

"Right now the green looks good," said Morgan. "People are asking 'When can we get on it? When are we opening?'"

Bosma trial winds down

Accused killer Dellen Millard will not be taking the stand at his first-degree murder trial, but whether his co-accused Mark Smich will remain to be seen.

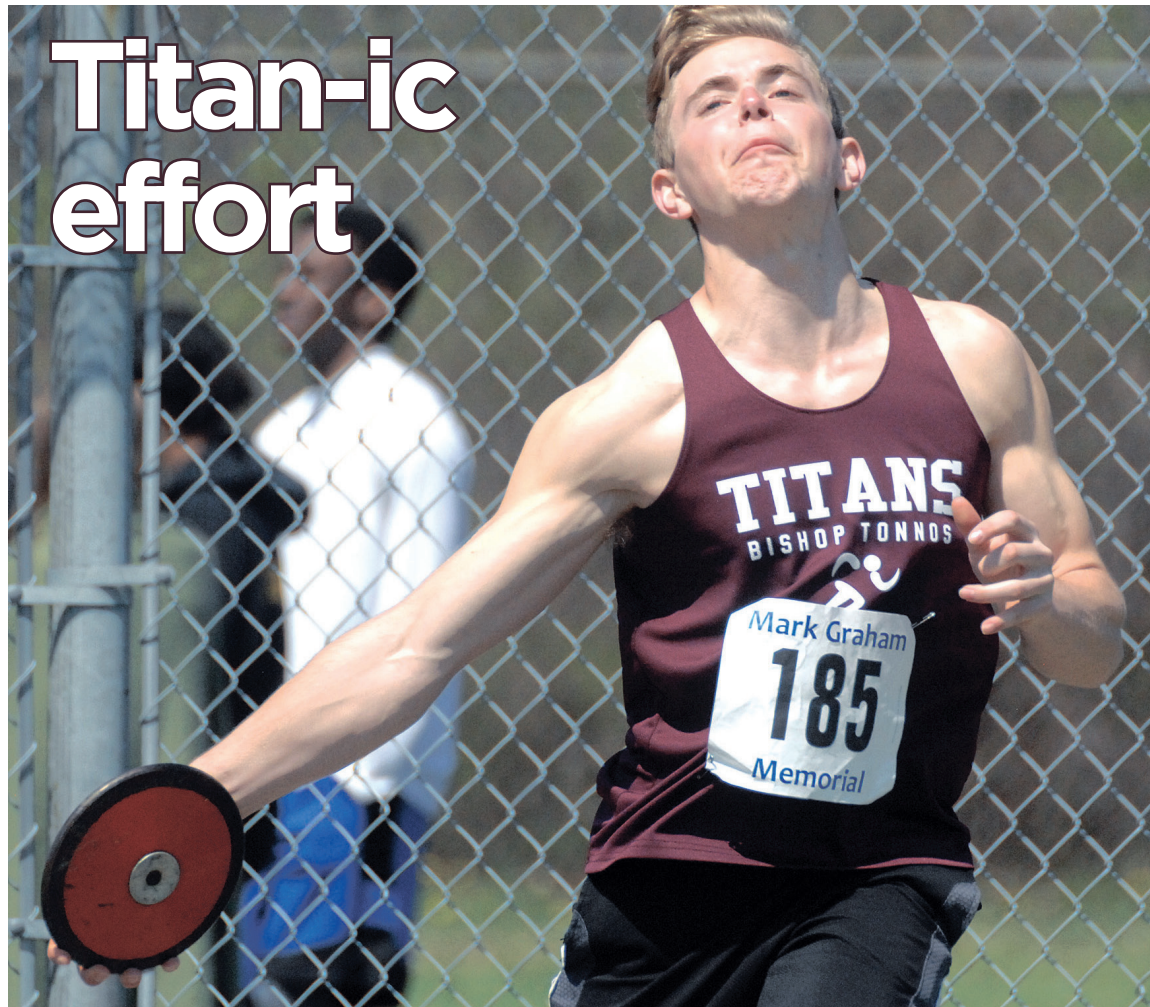

Millard's lawyer Ravin Pillay announced Monday morning he will not call witnesses in his client's defence.

Thomas Dungey, representing Smich, told the court his client will be calling a case.

Who the witnesses will be wasn't known by Hamilton Community News deadline on Tuesday. To follow the proceedings in the courtroom, log onto www.hamiltonnews.com or monitor our Twitter feed at @ancdunnews.

Homeowners argue over future of Perth Park

By Kevin Werner
News Staff

A promise made over a decade ago to install play equipment on a newly created park at the former Grange school site is pitting neighbour against neighbour.

During a public meeting at Old Town Hall May 10, about 60 residents argued, cajoled, pleaded and sometimes shouted at each other over whether a new play structure should be located on Perth Park.

Carol Edwards, who recently moved into the Perth Park neighbourhood and has two children, was told by the developers of the property, Shuit Homes, the current park would remain "passive."
